

If local radio made thier traffic and weather constant and available instead of being an ongoing commercial, then they would retain listeners. We are paying subscribers to a service and just like cable TV or satellite, they should change with the times and accept progress.